

HIGH HEAT & POOL PARTIES

Summertime in Southern California means one thing: pool parties galore! But with the scorching heat, keeping your pool in top shape is no joke. Make sure to keep an eye on the water levels and run that pump like it's training for a marathon during those high temperatures and don't forget to give it an extra workout before and after those epic pool parties.

- Low water levels can lead to damaged pumps and algae growth, so keep an eye on water levels and be prepared to add water frequently, so evaporation can lead to a loss of up to 2 inches per week. (Aqua System Pool and Spa Repair will not add water)

Understanding Algae

1. Green Algae: Green, slimy patches that thrive in sunlight and spread quickly if not treated promptly. Relatively easy to treat.
2. Yellow (Mustard) Algae: Yellow or brownish patches on pool walls and surfaces. Resistant to treatment, may require brush and shock treatment.
3. Black Algae: Stubborn black or dark green spots with a hard, protective layer that shields them from traditional treatment. Specialized algacides and aggressive treatment needed for removal.
4. Pink Algae: Pink or reddish slime on pool surfaces, caused by bacterial growth. Requires thorough scrubbing and shock treatments for removal.
